Market Commentary

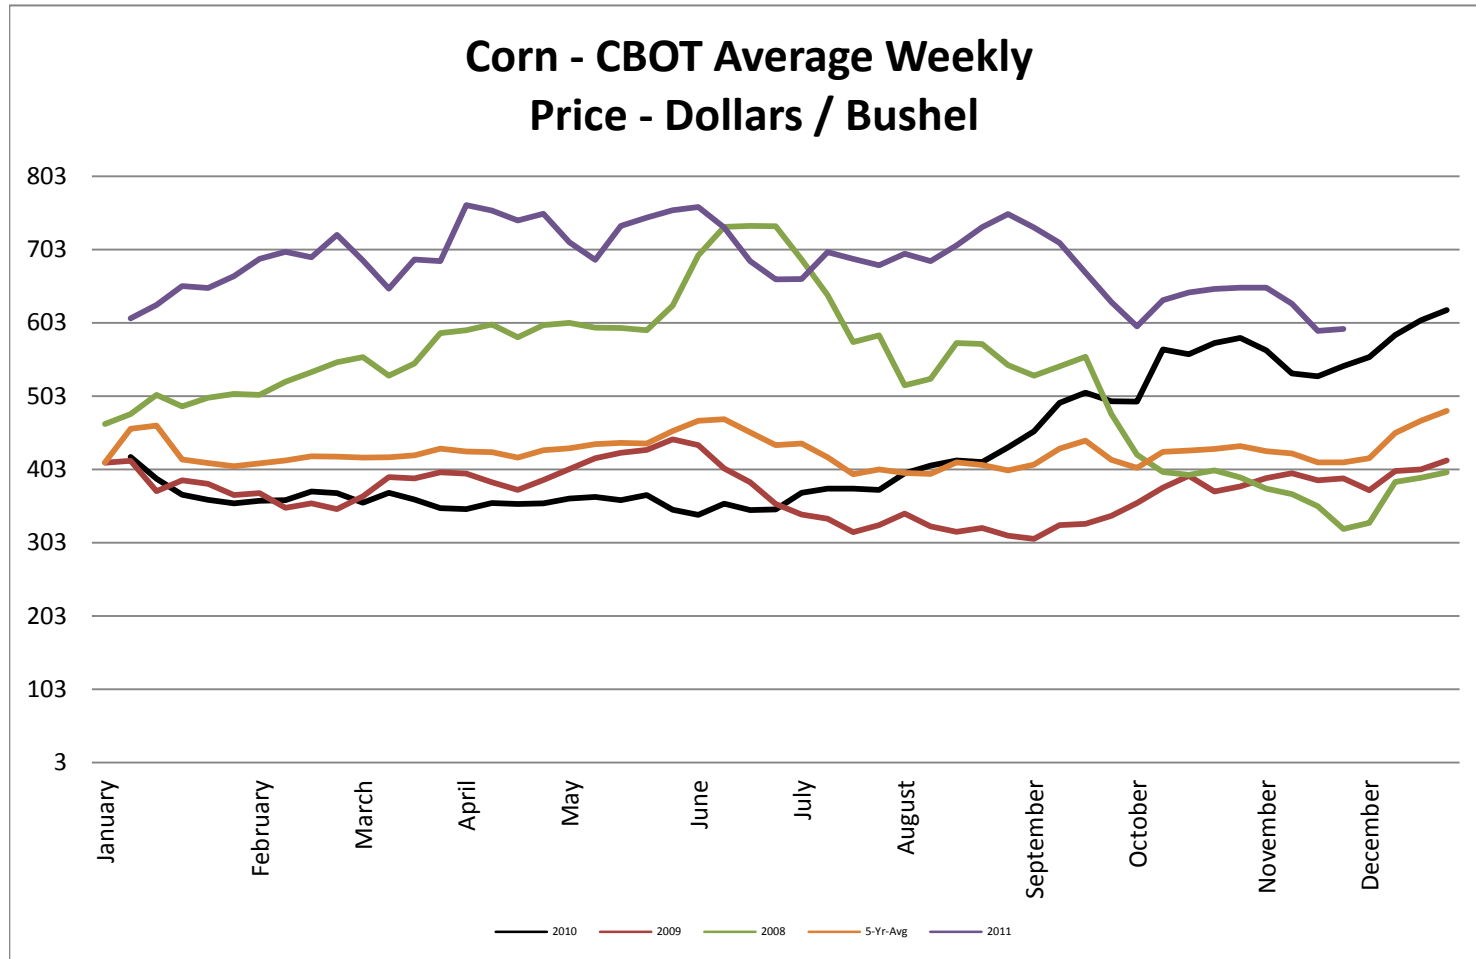

Commentary: Some say the markets are going up and some say the markets are going down... I agree. The soybean market seems to be range bound, but volatile within that range, though it was nice to see the soybean complex on the lower side of its range last week. Traders had a bit more confidence last week as a result of better unemployment numbers, and traders became net buyers. Europe is working to solve its problems and the U.S. dollar lost some ground, helping to move the complex higher, but not by much. Looking at agricultural commodities as a whole the inputs are largely the same and are unchanged. China is a buyer, but not an overwhelming buyer. Weather is good for the South American crop. Demand is down domestically for beans, corn, and wheat. The dollar is still high compared to last year or last month. This is the time of year, though when farmers start to decide what they will plant next year, so we might see some support added to the corn and soybean markets as a result, which will help move wheat.

Corn futures closed between $5.82-1/2 and $6.01-1/4 per bushel, ending the week at $6.01-1/4.
 Soybean futures closed between $11.06-1/2 and $11/31-1/4 per bushel, ending the week at $11/31-1/4.
 Soybean meal futures closed between $282.50 and $290.40 per short ton, ending the week at $290.40.
 Soybean oil futures closed between $0.4891 and $0.4932 per pound, ending the week at $0.4927.
 Wheat futures closed between $5.74-1/2 and $5.95-3/4 per bushel, ending the week at $5.95-3/4.
