BY-PRODUCTS: VARIETY MEATS, TALLOW, PROTEINS, AND HIDES

Trading was lethargic on beef variety meats when reporting became active following the government furlough. Packers were asking significantly higher money on beef head meat and cheeks, forcing traders to the sidelines. Trading on pork varieties was slightly more active as buying for Chinese New Year continued. Pork cheeks moved higher at the start of the wee but tumbled as the week progressed. Salivary glands moved higher for the week as interest from south of the border continued. Market activity on tallows and greases was slow to moderate this week. Chicago packer and renderer tallow finished sharply lower than our pre-shutdown prices. Light soap, chemical and biofuel demand combined with moderate production pressured the markets. Chicago edible tallow and lard also ended sharply lower. Light biofuel demand resulted in lower prices on Central choice white and yellow grease. However, prices have reached a level where feed users may be looking to add more fats in rations. The Gulf markets saw some activity on packer tallow which reflected the trend on the Chicago markets. Protein feed supplements experienced moderate trading this week. Ruminant meat and bone meal prices finished slightly lower. Demand was light to moderate for mostly moderate offerings. Pork meat and bone meal also finished lower. Heavy supplies pressured the market. Light demand resulted in lower prices on Central, Panhandle and pork blood meal.
