

12-10-14

Chilean avocado exports to decline sharply amid drought

A severe drought in parts of Chile has driven a decline in avocado production, and the lower volumes have brought higher domestic prices for growers. Those conditions could cut avocado exports in half this year, said Cabilfrut President Juan Pablo Cerda